

Closing Song

(To the tune of Patapan) <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TB99NcknAe8>

(Assembled company hums quietly)

Bum, bum, ba ba bum,

Bum, bum ba ba bum.

(repeat throughout the verses)

-Wooden recorder plays the melody one time through-

1ST VERSE

(The enslaved person's stanza)

There has got to be a time when a man thinks of freedom

When he knows a conflict lies

Between what he wants

And with what he knows

Man sh'ant own another man

Even though we all know he can.

2ND VERSE

(The indentured servant's stanza)

There are men who hold our fate in their hands because they did

Pay our passage to these shores

It will take us years

Paying back that loan

Work beneath our skills, we groan

We can't wait to be on our own.

3RD VERSE

(The immigrant's stanza)

And the journey we all share is identical because

All we want is liberty

To leave when we wish

To arrive, you see,

For an opportunity

And to choose when we come and go.
